TWENTY-SECOND ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
DIRECTORS OF THE MERCANTILE LIBRARY COMPANY, OF PHILADELPHIA.

Presented at a Meeting of the Stockholders, January 14th, 1845.

THE Directors of the Mercantile Library Company, in presenting the Twenty-second Annual Report, have sincere gratification in announcing its continued prosperity. Its thronged rooms during the whole of the past year, while they attest the great interest which the mercantile young men of our city feel in its welfare, indicate also, the extent which its usefulness has attained. The mental feast which it spreads nightly before its visitors, has not been proffered in vain, and the cause of sound morals has been promoted, refinement augmented, and intelligence visibly increased by the wide range of action which is now embraced by the Institution.

It has been computed that there are at present on its shelves, more works of a desirable character for every young man to peruse, than each could read, in the hours not necessarily devoted to business, in an entire century! This valuable collection is constantly augmented by the purchase of such new works as the rapid press throws off from day to day. With such attractions, it is no less natural than gratifying, that its quiet rooms should win and retain large numbers of the knowledge seeking young men of our city. And well may they be presumed to know the value of intellectual power. To the merchant it is, next to probity and virtue, his most essential capital. In the counting room its superiority is greatly manifested, and in the intercourse of trader with trader, whether by personal, or through the medium of epistolary-communion, its value is beyond all praise. When the duties of the day are thrown aside, it charms the domestic and social circle by its refining influence, but above all when the period for retirement from active business pursuits has arrived, it enables the merchant, in his now comparative solitude, to find dear friends in the enlivening companionship of books which he had learned to love in his youth. Without possessing a taste for reading, let no one delude himself with the hope of a happy old age. When the soul looks dimly on the outward world if no radiant light shine inward, in vain alas! are wealth and its appliances to produce consolation and contentment. And if our institution serve the double purpose of tending to preserve the young from those pursuits in which honor and happiness are forever wrecked, and of brightening their manhood and old age with intelligence, virtue and contentment, then does it eminently merit universal favor and protection.

The Society, as the members are well aware, has suffered greatly from its commencement, for the want of appropriate apartments. For many years past, the board kept before the members and the public, the necessity for better accommodations, and in last year's report they made an earnest appeal for the necessary funds, to enable them to erect an edifice which should be creditable alike to the Association and the community. Their call was promptly responded to, and with the kind aid of a committee, whose names are appended, and to whose efficiency they bear willing testimony, a sum was in a very few days subscribed by the members and the public, amounting to upwards of fourteen thousand dollars, enabling the board (with the building fund which had already accrued) to close the purchase of the lot of ground at the S. E. corner of Fifth and Library streets, and to undertake, successfully, the erection of the chaste edifice which has there arisen, an honor and an ornament to our city.

The universal admiration which this building has elicited, the beautiful proportions it exhibits, the ample accommodations it ensures the Institution, its happy location, and prudent cost, must, the board think, win the unqualified approbation of every member. To William Johnson, the very skilful architect, and to the intelligent contractors, Killgore & Hudder, the board have much pleasure in returning their thanks for their uniform courtesy, promptitude and fair dealing.

The cost of the old building and lot, was stated in last year's report, to be nineteen thousand dollars. Considerable delay however, having occurred on the part of the owners in giving the Company possession, and a difficulty having arisen in regard to the southern boundary (which has since been adjusted with the Dispensary,) the negotiation was re-opened, and the price finally arranged at eighteen thousand dollars, secured by a ground rent, bearing interest at the rate of five per cent. per annum, payable quarterly, the principal to be liquidated at the end of ten years. The entire cost of the building, will be within the sum of nineteen thousand dollars, and the whole amount of the building fund, including interest, and the proceeds of Lectures, which has been realized, is $17,730. The additional sum of $1,040, has been subscribed, but remains unpaid, most of which will probably be received. For every ten dollars subscribed and paid, a receipt was given entitling the holder to one share of stock, subject to the semi-annual contributions agreeably to the rules of the Association.

The building is now under roof, and will be completed on or before the first of July next. It is three stories high ; the first or basement story is faced on its entire front both on Fifth street and on Library street, with white marble, worked with rustics. The walls above are built of hard brick, and will be covered, externally, with a firm and enduring cement, which will be painted an appropriate colour. The front on Fifth street, is fifty feet, presenting a portico, with suitable entablature, and having six columns of the Corinthian order, resting on the marble basement.

The flank on Library street, one hundred feet in length, is enriched by ornamental Antææ, at each extremity, and paneling between the windows,—the windows of the principal floor are provided with broad marble heads, forming plain consoles.

The whole of the basement story is divided into double offices of convenient size and arrangement, each of which is provided with a good and substantial fire-proof. The whole of the second story is designed for the Library and Reading Room,—for Conversation and Newspaper Room, and for the accommodation of the Directors. The third floor will be arranged and rented as a Lecture Room—as Offices, or in such other manner as shall be deemed most useful to the Company. All the apartments of the building will be well lighted and ventilated, supplied with gas fixtures, and warmed from spacious furnaces in the cellar.

A permanent insurance has already been effected on the building, and the Directors have much pleasure in announcing that the Insurance Companies, through whom this was accomplished, complied with much promptness and liberality with the request made to them for that purpose.

From the foregoing, it will be perceived that the front covers 50 feet, and not 36, as was contemplated in the last report. This important addition the board was enabled to make, from the fortuitous circumstance, that fourteen feet of ground on the south side of the lot, belonging to the Philadelphia Dispensary, was unimproved. The importance to our Institution of its acquisition, was at once perceived by the board, and after several interviews with the Directors of that respectable Society, a purchase was made of the whole, extending eastwardly parallel with the company's lot, to the distance of one hundred feet, for the sum of three thousand dollars, to remain on mortgage at an interest of 6 per cent., the principal to be paid at any time, at the convenience of the Library Co., on giving the holders six months notice. This purchase, is obviously advantageous to the company, as it yields an additional basement office, a pleasant room on the Library floor and two convenient rooms above it, for rental or other purposes; and adds two columns to the portico, thereby giving a more dignified appearance to the front, and altogether improving the symmetry of the building.

In their intercourse with the Managers of the Dispensary, your Directors experienced much kindness from them, and the manifestation of a warm desire to promote, as far as was consistent with their duty to the Institution which they represented, the enlargement of the Library building and the improvement of its architectural proportions.

A list of those persons, who aided the Association in its undertaking, by their subscriptions, is herewith presented. Their names have been honorably recorded in the archives of the Society, and the remembrance of their liberality will long be cherished by the members of the Institution.

The Library has been increased 221 volumes during the past year, and 10,938 volumes have been taken out for home perusal. Its ordinary receipts, as per Treasurer's report, have amounted to $1,762 02, its ordinary disbursements to $1,760 46. The number of active members at present, is 814, showing an addition of 117.

The purchase of desirable books, the board respectfully recommend their successors to increase very considerably during the next year; to do so, and to defray many extra outlays incidental to the new building, estimated in the whole at $3000, they would recommend a further call upon the friends of the Library. Circumstances (perhaps accidental in their nature) have hitherto prevented some of our wealthiest merchants and citizens from subscribing. In so good a cause, where to give is as honorable as to receive, it is hoped that many such will hasten to contribute.

It may not be amiss to observe, that wealth has its duties as well as its exemptions. And where a worthy appeal is made from those engaged in commercial toils, for an undeniable general good to those who happily are removed from the vicissitudes of trade, we may be permitted to say that it should meet a hearty and kindly response.

The members will learn with lively sensibility, that the late Nathan Dunn, an enterprising merchant of this city, who died a short time since in Switzerland, liberally remembered their Institution in his will, which he made under the impression that his bequest would add largely to its funds. Adverse circumstances, it is said, will probably render his intentions nugatory; but that lamented gentleman is not the less entitled to the enduring gratitude of the members.

It is a singular circumstance, that this is the only instance, to the knowledge of the board, in which this noble institution has been so remembered—except in a recent legacy of one hundred dollars, by the late venerable Paul Beck.

The Directors, gratified at the confidence the members have uniformly reposed in them, have had peculiar satisfaction in being connected with the Society at this interesting period of its history. Fully aware of the value of the Institution to our community, they have considered no time nor labor mispent, which they were called upon to devote to its welfare. It would have accorded with their wishes, to establish a creditable course of lectures for the present season, but many of the public men of the country, on whom they would have relied for co-operating with them in the undertaking, were, at the appropriate time for entering into arrangements, so engaged as to preclude the hope of obtaining their services. Hereafter, circumstances may be more propitious, and if the members shall express a decided wish for a resumption of the lectures—doubtless any future board will cheerfully make an effort to carry out their desire.

The Institution is now about entering upon a bright career of greatly enlarged usefulness. At length has it achieved a “local habitation,” as well as a name. Beneath its silent teachings, the young, the friendless, and the obscure, will learn the way to virtue, wealth and renown—and the board may confidently predict, that in future times the Philadelphia Merchants who shall stand pre-eminent in society for unwavering rectitude, refined intelligence, just liberality and social and business prosperity, will be found amongst those who passed the precious evenings of their youth within the treasure-lined walls of the MERCANTILE LIBRARY HALL.

Respectfully submitted, by order of the Board.

OF THE

COMMITTEE TO PROCURE SUBSCRIPTIONS.

THE Committee appointed at the last Annual Meeting to procure subscriptions to the stock of the Mercantile Library Company, beg leave respectfully to report:—

That they entered upon the duty assigned to them, as soon after their appointment as was practicable, and succeeded, in connexion with the Directors, in obtaining the names of four hundred and seventy-six firms and individuals, for one thousand four hundred and ninety-one shares of stock, amounting, at $10 per share, to $14,910. Of this amount, $13,870 have actually been received, and of the remainder, it is believed, nearly $1000 more will be certainly collected.

The Committee are gratified to state, that very few persons have refused or neglected to pay their subscriptions, and the cheerfulness and alacrity with which both names and money were given—while it is a source of pleasure to your Committee, is also a fact highly honorable to the merchants and others of this city, who were called upon to aid the laudable efforts of the Company.

The Committee have learned with pleasure, that in addition to the amount received from subscriptions, a further sum of $459 99 has been gained by interest on temporary investments, made by the Directors of money as received, and it is respectfully suggested to them, to continue the plan of loaning the money on undoubted security, until it shall be needed to defray the expenses of the new Hall.

In behalf of the Committee,

ALGERNON S. ROBERTS,

Chairman.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

To the President and Directors of the Mercantile Library Company:—

GENTLEMEN—

IN accordance with the By-Laws, an Abstract of Receipts and Payments on account of the Company, for the past year, is herewith submitted. It will be seen that the former, together with the balance on hand at the beginning of the year, amounted to $2,114 48, and the latter to $1,760 46, leaving a balance now on hand of $354 02. During the year, there has been sold, without reference to the Building Fund, eleven shares of stock, at $10, and six shares, to original subscribers, at $7, amounting to $152, and credited in the general account of the Company. It may be proper, also, to state that the interest accruing, prior to the 1st of January last, on moneys of the Company, then invested, has also, as formerly, been carried to credit of same account. The interest accruing since that date, has been credited to the Building Fund.

The income of the present year is estimated at $1,920 00 arising from the following:—viz.

| Showing a Surplus of                      | - - - - - | -          | $270 00   |

It will be observed that rent has been estimated for the whole year. This is done under the impression, that the Board will deem it proper to charge the Library a reasonable sum for the apartments occupied by it, until the sinking fund of the Company is in a condition to warrant a belief of its being fully adequate to meet the liquidation of the ground rents.

The Roll of Stockholders shows an increase during the year of one hundred and seventeen names; ninety-nine of whom were admitted on Building Fund script. The roll of subscribers has not been materially altered: about an equal number to those admitted having signified their withdrawal. It may, however, be remarked, that many subscribers do not consider it necessary to give notice of their wish to discontinue their subscriptions, and the Roll, in consequence, bears a number of names that cannot be counted on.

A Statement of the Building Fund, and a List of Contributors thereto, is also herewith submitted. The subscriptions obtained by the Directors and the Committee appointed to aid in procuring them, amount in the aggregate to $14,918—$13,878 of which, has been collected. The remainder is nearly all deemed good, and will, it is thought, be collected. The disbursements from this fund, on account of the lot and building, amount to $6,780 90. The fund, at present, consists of the following :—viz.
